

John Francis to Nicholas Brown, Philadelphia, 11 November 1787 (excerpts)

Politics are the only topics in all companies. Tories were never detested with half the zeal that Antifederalists are now. And there needs no greater confirmation of a villain than an opposition to the favorite government...

Cite as: Volume XXIV of The Documentary History of the Ratification of the Constitution, Rhode Island, Vol. 1, edited by John P. Kaminski, Charles H. Schoenleber, Gaspare J. Saladino, Richard Leffler, Jonathan M. Reid, Margaret R. Flamingo, Patrick T. Conley, Madison: Wisconsin Historical Society Press, 2011.