

Philadelphia Independent Gazetteer, 30 July 1788

As soon as the intelligence [of NY's ratification] reached the city a number of Federalists, as the impudent tories, refugees, and those who have fostered in the bosom of the our enemies during the late contest with Great Britain call themselves, assembled in the night, when everything was hused in silence and repose, and attacked the dwelling of Mr. Thomas Greenleaf, the Editor of the old New York Journal, and destroyed the printing apparatus, because, it is said, some of the above mentioned gentry are displeased at the account given in that paper of last Tuesday's parade.

Cite as: Philadelphia Independent Gazetteer, 30 July 1788.